DEAD EYE · HONOR · THE SICKNESS

The game's three big systems, all HOMEBREW: his gun, his conscience, and what kills him

In the game, Dead Eye slows time so Arthur can aim. It runs on a bar that drains while it's on, backed by a core that keeps the bar coming back. Kills refill it, and so do tonics, tobacco and food. Over the story it grows through five levels, from slowed time to seeing the spots that kill. On this sheet Dead Eye is his Fighter subclass: a bar of six boxes, spent a turn at a time.

The Dead Eye Bar

Boxes equal to his Proficiency Bonus (six), refilled by rest and by kills

Turning it on. Bonus Action, 1 box. It lasts until the end of his turn (from Level 3 it can stay on). It works in the saddle.

While it's on: Advantage on attack rolls with guns and bows. He draws, holsters and reloads for free, and his guns ignore Loading.

The free shot. Targets mark themselves as his aim sweeps over them: turning Dead Eye on also fires one shot at a creature he can see.

Painting (Level 2). Action, in Dead Eye. He spends boxes, one per mark, and sets the marks on creatures he can see in range, as many on one creature as he likes. Then he fires: one attack per mark, as long as the guns in his hands hold the rounds (6 per revolver). It takes the place of the Attack action; Action Surge can still add one.

Filling. A short or long rest fills the bar (in the game: the core, kept up by food, coffee, tobacco and sleep). In a fight he gets 1 box back when his gun or bow drops a creature to 0 HP or lands a critical hit, once a turn. Snake Oil gives back 3.

Bar: ☐☐☐☐☐☐ Marks: ✕✕✕

THE FIVE LEVELS

	IN THE GAME	ON THIS SHEET
1	Slowed time targets mark themselves · Fighter 3	Advantage, free reloads, no Loading, and the free shot as it starts.
2	Painting he marks them by hand · Fighter 7	Painting: an Action, one box per mark, one shot per mark.
3	Free fire shooting no longer ends it · Fighter 10	Dead Eye stays on. At the start of each of his turns it drains 1 box, until he lets it go or the bar runs dry. His Reaction shots get it too.
4	Critical areas weak spots light up · Fighter 15	In Dead Eye, his guns and bow score a critical hit on an 18–20.
5	Fatal areas the spots that kill · Fighter 18	A critical hit in Dead Eye that leaves a creature at 50 HP or fewer drops it to 0 HP.

The levels as the game's guides describe them. Which mission unlocks each one wasn't checked for this sheet, and the order of the first three is the least certain.

A Dead Eye fight: turn it on (1 box, a free shot), take the Attack action with Advantage, and keep it running at a box a turn. When it counts, paint with the rest of the bar, then Action Surge. Kills and crits keep it fed.

HONOR

In the game, his choices move an honor bar. Sparing people, helping strangers and keeping his word raise it; murder, robbing the innocent and cruelty lower it. High honor brings shop discounts and warmer greetings; low honor puts more money on the bodies he loots. It changes how his story ends.

−4	−3	−2	−1	0	+1	+2	+3	+4

← Low Honor — this sheet: +4, High Honor →

Moving it. +1 for a real act of decency, −1 for a cruel one. The story starts him at 0; his redemption ends at +4.

High (+3, +4). Shops charge him a quarter less (half at +4), and honest folk warm to him: Advantage on Persuasion with them. Once per long rest, sparing a beaten foe or saving an innocent gives him Heroic Inspiration.

Low (−3, −4). Twice the money from looting the dead, and Advantage on Intimidation. People cross the street. The in-game discount and loot numbers weren't checked; these are the sheet's own.

THE SICKNESS

In the game, collecting a debt for Strauss, Arthur beats a sick farmer, Thomas Downes, who coughs blood in his face. The cough grows. Late in the story he collapses in Saint Denis, and a doctor tells him it's tuberculosis. It thins his face and fills his last chapter, but barely changes how he plays. Nothing in 1899 cures it.

STAGE	ON THIS SHEET
0 · Healthy until the Downes debt	Nothing.
1 · Infected a cough that won't go	Nothing yet. He coughs now and then.
2 · Diagnosed his last chapter	Hit Point maximum −20 (203). Coughing fit: when he rolls a 1 on a d20 Test, his attack rolls have Disadvantage until the end of his next turn.
3 · The last night the final mission	As stage 2, plus 2 levels of Exhaustion that no rest removes (−4 to d20 Tests, Speed −10 ft).

Stage: [0] 1 2 3 The main sheet is stage 0–1. Switch it on for his last chapter.

HOW HONOR ENDS IT

He dies in every ending. On the last night he either helps John get away or goes back for the gang's money, and Honor colors how it plays out. Helping John at High Honor, he dies at peace, watching the sun come up; at Low Honor, Micah kills him. Most fans count High Honor and helping John as the true ending. Rockstar hasn't named one, as far as this sheet knows.

PLAYING IT

In a fight only Dead Eye moves. Set Honor once: +4 for the canon redemption, −4 for a ruthless Arthur. Pick a sickness stage: 0–1 for Chapters 1–5, 2 for his last chapter, 3 for the final mission. A full bar is six turns of slowed time, or one huge painted turn.

GUNS, ROPE & DYNAMITE

His guns, tools and tricks, HOMEBREW where the PHB has nothing close

THE GUNS all Martial Ranged weapons, piercing damage, +13 to hit

GUN	DAMAGE	RANGE	ROUNDS	PROPERTIES · MASTERY	IN THE GAME
Cattleman Revolver	1d10	40/120	6	Light · Nick	His sidearm from the start; balanced
Schofield Revolver	2d6	40/120	6	Light · Nick	Hits harder; the break-top reloads fast
Lancaster Repeater	1d10	100/400	14	Two-Handed · Vex	The lever-action with the big magazine
Springfield Rifle	2d8	150/600	1	Two-Handed, Loading · Topple	Single shot, heavy hit, long reach
Rolling Block Rifle	2d10	300/1,200	1	Heavy, Loading, scope · Sap	Scoped single shot for hunting and sniping
Pump-Action Shotgun	2d8	30/90	5	Two-Handed · Push	Brutal up close, little reach

Rounds. When a gun runs dry, reloading it costs one attack of the Attack action or his Bonus Action; in Dead Eye it's free. Loading (single-shot rifles): one shot per action, as in the PHB, unless Dead Eye is on. Built on the PHB Pistol (1d10) and Musket (1d12) and the 2014 DMG's revolver, rifle and shotgun.

Lasso and Hogtie

The reinforced lasso · replaces one attack

Range 30 ft, one Large or smaller creature: DC 19 Dex save or it's Grappled (escape DC 19) and pulled 10 ft toward him. While he holds the rope he drags it along at his own Speed, or his horse's; dragged behind a horse it's Prone and takes 2d6 bludgeoning at the end of each of his turns. Hogtie: Utilize action, on a creature within 5 ft that is Grappled, Incapacitated or Prone. It's Restrained until it breaks free (an action and a DC 19 Dex check) or someone cuts the rope. He can carry it over his shoulder or across the saddle.

Dynamite and Fire Bottles

Each throw replaces one attack, the way Alchemist's Fire does

Dynamite ×4: thrown up to 60 ft, bursts in a 10-ft radius: DC 19 Dex save, 6d6 fire damage, half on a success. Wagons and doors take double. Volatile dynamite ×1 (crafted): 15-ft radius, 8d6. Fire bottle ×4: thrown up to 40 ft, 5-ft radius: DC 19 Dex save or 2d6 fire and Burning (1d4 fire each turn until it spends an action to put it out); the spot burns for 1 minute. Volatile fire bottle ×1: 10-ft radius, 4d6.

The Improved Bow

A longbow · silent, for hunting and quiet work

+13, 1d8 + 5 piercing, range 150/600, Slow. A hit from hiding doesn't give him away if the target drops. Arrows ×20, plus fire ×5 (+1d6 fire, Burning), poison ×5 (DC 19 Con save or Poisoned for 1 minute, taking 2d6 poison at the end of each of its turns until a save ends it), dynamite ×3 (bursts as dynamite: 10-ft radius, 6d6) and small game arrows (1 damage, a clean pelt).

Knives, Tomahawks and Fists

Close work

Hunting knife (dagger): +11, 1d4 + 5. Takedown HB: a knife hit on a creature that hasn't noticed him is a critical hit. Throwing knives ×10: +11, 1d4 + 5, thrown 20/60; he collects them after. Tomahawks ×4: +9, 1d6 + 3, thrown 20/60. Fists: three punches per Attack action, 1d4 + 3, rerolling 1s; once a turn a hit shoves 5 ft. Any punch can Grapple instead (DC 17), and a punch that drops a foe can knock it out instead of killing it.

Eagle Eye

Fighter 3 · the hunter's sight

Bonus Action: for 10 minutes he sees like the game's Eagle Eye. Tracks, blood and scent trails stand out, and so do animals and useful plants. He has Advantage on Perception and Survival checks that use sight (passive Perception 22) and can follow a trail at a fast pace without penalty. It ends early if he takes the Attack action.

Tonics and the Satchel

Bonus Action to drink, like a potion

Health Cure ×3: 2d4 + 2 HP. Potent Health Cure ×1: 4d4 + 4 HP. Snake Oil ×2: +3 Dead Eye boxes. Miracle Tonic ×1: 4d4 + 4 HP and +2 boxes. Horse Reviver ×1: gets his downed horse back up. Food, coffee and tobacco fill the game's cores; here they're part of a rest.

His Horse

Large Beast · Bond 4, the highest · the breed is the player's choice

AC 11, HP 45, Speed 70 ft (a fast saddle horse; a heavy war horse is 60 ft and 60 HP). Str 18, Dex 14, Con 14, Int 2, Wis 12, Cha 7. Hooves: +6, 2d6 + 4 bludgeoning. Bond 4: it comes to his whistle from up to a mile off, holds steady under gunfire (it can't be Frightened while he rides it), and knows its full set of tricks: rearing, skid turns, drifts, dressage steps. Its saddlebags carry the long guns he isn't holding. Downed, not dead HB: at 0 HP it falls Unconscious but stable, unless the hit was 45 or more; a Horse Reviver gets it up with 2d10 HP.

Quick Draw

Duels: Alert and Dead Eye

In a standoff, with both sides waiting to draw, he rolls Initiative with Advantage, and on his first turn Dead Eye costs no box. In the game he outdraws the old legends a writer, Theodore Levin, is putting in a book, Jim Calloway last of all.

FIGHTING AS ARTHUR

Round one: Alert puts him first. Bonus Action: Dead Eye (1 box) and its free shot. Action: the Attack action with two Schofields, four shots with Advantage, critical hits on 18–20, Sneak Attack on one. About 65 damage against AC 18.

The big turn: Dead Eye, then Painting with the other five boxes (five shots), then Action Surge for four more. About 130 damage, and a kill or a crit buys a box back.

Every round: four shots, Studied Attacks after a miss, Peerless Aim to turn one miss into a hit. A crowd gets dynamite; a runner gets the lasso.

When it goes bad: Second Wind and a half move back into cover, a tonic, Indomitable on a failed save. In the saddle, Mounted Combatant keeps his horse alive.

BROTHERS

Dutch brought John Marston into the gang as a boy, and Arthur has been his older brother ever since: grumbling, rescuing, and in the end dying to get him home. HB Side by side: when Arthur and John fight on the same side, once per round, when one of them hits a creature, the other can use his Reaction to make one attack against it.

THE DEBT COLLECTOR

For Leopold Strauss, the gang's moneylender, Arthur collects debts. Intimidation +12 (Expertise) gets most people to pay; the rest get a beating. One of those beatings, of a sick farmer named Thomas Downes, gave him tuberculosis. Late in the story he goes back to help the Downes family, and Strauss is thrown out of camp.

WHO HE IS

Arthur Morgan was born in 1863 and grew up hard. At about fourteen he was taken in by Dutch van der Linde and Hosea Matthews, and the Van der Linde gang became his family. Dutch preached that they were free men in a crooked country. By 1899 Arthur was the gang's senior gun, its enforcer, and the son Dutch trusted most.

The story opens just after the Blackwater ferry job goes wrong. With the Pinkertons behind them, the gang runs from the snows of Colter to the swamps of Lemoyne, the streets of Saint Denis and a shipwreck on Guarma. Every job is meant to be the last one. Dutch's plans grow wilder, Micah's voice grows louder, and a debtor's cough gives Arthur tuberculosis.

Dying, Arthur spends his last months making amends. He helps people he once hurt, and he decides John Marston, Abigail and Jack have to get out. On the last night, with Micah exposed as the Pinkertons' informant and Dutch walking away, he holds the line so John can ride home. At High Honor he dies on the mountain, watching the sun come up.

LEGENDARY FEATS

- Found John Marston half-dead after a wolf attack and got him back through a blizzard.
- Robbed Leviticus Cornwall's train and broke Micah out of Strawberry's jail.
- Got loose from Colm O'Driscoll's men after they strung him up, and rode home.
- Burned Braithwaite Manor and brought Jack back from Saint Denis.
- Shot his way out of the Saint Denis bank job, and off Guarma.
- Broke John out of Sisika Penitentiary.
- Outdrew the old legends for Theodore Levin's book, Jim Calloway last of all.
- Hunted legendary animals across the map, the Bharati Grizzly among them.
- Kept fighting while dying of tuberculosis, to the very end.
- Saw through Micah from the first day, long before anyone listened.

PERSONALITY

Traits: Gruff, dry and sarcastic, and kinder than he lets on. Good with children and animals. He writes in his journal and draws what he sees.

Ideal: Loyalty to the gang; in the end, doing right by the people he can still save.

Bonds: John, Abigail and Jack. Dutch and Hosea. Mary. The memory of Eliza and Isaac.

Flaw: He followed Dutch too long, and he believes he's a bad man past saving.

APPEARANCE

36 in 1899. Tall and heavily built; fans put him at about 6 ft 1 in, but the game gives no number. Dirty-blond hair, light eyes, a scar on his chin, stubble or a beard.

A flat-brimmed hat, a leather coat, a gun belt and a satchel; a bandana over his face for jobs.

Late in the story the sickness shows: thinner, paler, coughing blood.

The latest version. Red Dead Redemption 2 (2018) is his only game, and its story is the whole of his life on screen. He dies in 1899. In the epilogue (1907), John, Sadie and Charles finally kill Micah, and John can visit Arthur's grave. Red Dead Online is set earlier and doesn't feature him. Roger Clark gives him his voice and his motion capture. No remake or sequel with Arthur had been announced as of mid-2026; nothing later was checked. To play the dying Arthur of the last mission: the sickness at stage 3 (203 HP, coughing fits, 2 levels of Exhaustion). Everything else on the sheet stays.

THE PEOPLE IN HIS LIFE

Dutch van der Linde, who raised him. His plans and his mind come apart, and Arthur finally stops following.

Hosea Matthews, Dutch's partner, the gentler of the two. Agent Milton executes him in Saint Denis.

John Marston, the younger brother he scolds and saves. Arthur dies getting him home.

Abigail and Jack, John's wife and son, the family Arthur never got to keep.

Sadie Adler, a widow the O'Driscolls wronged, and his closest friend in the last year.

Charles Smith, steady and honest, his best partner in a fight.

Micah Bell, the gunman he never trusted, rightly. Micah is the rat.

Mary Linton, the woman he loved and lost. Eliza and Isaac, the family robbers took.

BUILD NOTES

Fighter (Dead Eye) 19 / Rogue 1. A Fighter subclass has five feature levels (3, 7, 10, 15, 18), one for each level of Dead Eye. One Rogue level makes him an outlaw: Expertise in Survival (the hunter) and Intimidation (the debt collector).

Ability scores: 27-point buy (Str 14, Dex 15, Con 13, Int 10, Wis 10, Cha 10), then the background, Sharpshooter, Mounted Combatant, three ASIs and the Boon.

Power note: about 65 damage a round in Dead Eye against AC 18, and about 130 in one painted turn. AC 16 means he needs cover.

WHAT 5E CAN'T COPY

- Slowed time. Dead Eye is as close as 5e gets.
- The cores, food, weight and cold: the game's survival chores.
- Honor's hundred small choices, and an ending he can't escape.

Version: Red Dead Redemption 2 (Rockstar Games, 2018). Written from knowledge of the game and its guides. The web research was stopped early, so nothing here was re-checked against a wiki or Rockstar's site. Least certain: the order of the first three Dead Eye levels, his father's name, his height (a fan figure), the chapter of a few events, and anything after mid-2026.
