Kratos

Demigod (son of Zeus) · Fighter (Battle Master) 11 / Barbarian (Path of the World Tree) 9 · Soldier of Sparta · the Ghost of Sparta, the God of War who killed Olympus, the father who learned to put the axe down, and, at the end of Valhalla, a god of hope Built on the 2024 rules, canon-first, from all of it: Ascension, Chains of Olympus, God of War (2005), Ghost of Sparta, Betrayal, God of War II and III, then God of War (2018), Ragnarök and its Valhalla epilogue. The headline block is the newest Kratos: after Ragnarök, after Týr's trials, the man who sat on Ares's throne in Valhalla and decided what kind of god he would be. Everything before that is in the snapshots, and every kill and every defeat in them is credited the way the games tell it: who he killed, who he only beat, and who someone else finished.

Design calls. He was a Spartan captain before he was anything else, so Fighter comes first and stays the larger half: the shield, the discipline, three blows a turn, Action Surge, Indomitable, and a Battle Master's Parry, which is what Norse Kratos does instead of dying. Barbarian is the rage that has never left him; the Greek levels give him Rage itself, and the Norse ones are the Path of the World Tree, because the last decade of his life has been spent travelling Yggdrasil. The blood of Zeus is a homebrew species that sets Strength and Constitution past the mortal ceiling, the way Smasher's frame and the Slayer's Divinity Machine do. His weapons, the four forms of Spartan Rage and the runic attacks are homebrew items and features with the games' names. Height 6'4" (Santa Monica Studio, 2018); his age has never been given, and the sheet doesn't guess.

Snapshot: the end of Valhalla, level 20 (Fighter 11 / Barbarian 9)

Kratos

Medium Humanoid (Demigod, son of Zeus and Callisto) · the ash of his first family in his skin, Faye's axe on his back, the Blades of Chaos chained to his arms, the Guardian Shield on his wrist, a beard gone grey · "Do not be sorry. Be better."

AC 20 (Brok and Sindri's armor, +1, and the Guardian Shield) · HP 293 (Tough) · Speed 40 ft (Fast Movement) · Initiative +2 with advantage (Feral Instinct) · Proficiency +6 · Superiority dice 5d10, DC 22 · Rage 4 a day, +3 damage

STR	DEX	CON	INT	WIS	CHA
26 (+8)	14 (+2)	22 (+6)	10 (+0)	14 (+2)	8 (−1)

Saves Str +14 (advantage raging), Con +12; Indomitable rerolls a failure at +11 once a day; Danger Sense · Skills Athletics +14 (advantage raging), Intimidation +5 (+14 Strength-based while raging), Perception +8, Survival +8, History +6, Insight +8 · Tools dice, smith's tools · Languages Greek, Norse, the tongue of the giants (read, not spoken)

Defenses. Raging: resistance to bludgeoning, piercing and slashing, and Vitality Surge's 9 temporary HP. Always: resistance to lightning (his father's, and Thor's), immune to Frightened. Parry on the Guardian Shield: a superiority die takes 1d10+8 off a hit. Out of Hades: once a day, the first blow that would drop him to 0 leaves him at 1 HP instead. He has climbed out of the Underworld three times.

Attacks. Three per Attack action, Action Surge once a short rest. Leviathan Axe (+3): +17, 2d8+16 slashing and 1d6 cold. Blades of Chaos (+3, reach 15 ft): +17, 2d6+16 slashing and 1d8 fire, and the target Burns for 1d10 at the end of its next turn. Draupnir Spear (+3, thrown 60/180): +17, 1d10+16 piercing, and the spears he leaves behind detonate. The damage includes Dueling and Rage. Savage Attacker on the first hit each turn; Shield Master: the first hit each turn can knock the target Prone (Str save DC 22). In Spartan Rage (Legacy), every weapon hit also deals 1d10 radiant.

Feats Savage Attacker (Soldier), Shield Master, Tough, Sentinel, Charger, +2 Wis · Fighter 11 Dueling, Second Wind (1d10+11, four), Action Surge, Tactical Mind, Tactical Shift, Indomitable, Tactical Master, three attacks; Battle Master: Parry, Riposte, Trip, Pushing, Menacing, Precision, Commander's Strike; Know Your Enemy · Barbarian 9 Rage, Reckless Attack, Danger Sense, Primal Knowledge, Fast Movement, Feral Instinct, Instinctive Pounce, Brutal Strike; World Tree: Vitality Surge, Branches of the Tree

How he fights. Spartan Rage first, and at the end of Valhalla that means Legacy: the Blade of Olympus in his hand again. Then the axe, three blows behind the shield, a bash that puts the target on the ground, and a runic attack whenever one is ready. Against anything that grows back he takes the Blades instead, because fire is what stops it, and when it's down he finishes it with his hands. He parries; he doesn't charge in reckless any more. Valor when he's hurt. He was a god who solved everything this way; now he's a god who chooses to.

His blood, his weapons, his rage

Demigod: son of Zeus

Homebrew species · Medium · Speed 30 ft

Divine body. His Strength is 26 and his Constitution 22; nothing raises them further. Zeus's blood. Resistance to lightning: he has taken his father's bolts and Thor's hammer and kept walking. The Ghost of Sparta. He can't be Frightened. Out of Hades. Once per long rest, when he drops to 0 HP and isn't killed outright, he drops to 1 instead. Unaging. He doesn't grow old the way mortals do; the grey came anyway. He is still a god in the Norse years; he spent them hiding it from his son.

The Leviathan Axe

Legendary (attunement) · Faye's axe, forged by Brok and Sindri

+3 axe (one-handed), 2d8 slashing and 1d6 cold, thrown 60/120; as a Bonus Action it flies back to his hand from anywhere in sight. Mastery Topple. Frost: a creature it hits loses 10 ft of Speed until the end of its next turn.

The Blades of Chaos

Legendary (attunement) · chained to him since he served Ares; in the Norse years they come out of the Spartan's past and back onto his arms

+3 chained blades, reach 15 ft, 2d6 slashing and 1d8 fire; mastery Slow. Burn: a creature they hit takes 1d10 fire at the end of its next turn. Blade Grapple: as part of an attack, he can pull a Large or smaller creature 10 ft toward him (Str save DC 22).

The Draupnir Spear

Legendary (attunement) · Ragnarök, made with Odin's ring

+3 spear, 1d10 piercing, thrown 60/180; he can throw it every attack and a new one is always in his hand. Mastery Sap. Detonate: as a Bonus Action, every spear he has thrown this turn explodes for 2d8 force in a 5-ft radius.

The Guardian Shield, and the others

Rare · Ragnarök

+2 AC. Battle Master Parry and Riposte come off it. Valhalla lets him take a different shield into each run, and so does this sheet, swapped on a long rest: Dauntless (a parry stuns: Con save DC 22 or no Reactions until its next turn), Stone Wall (a charged slam: 3d10 force in 10 ft), Shatter Star (a bash that pushes 15 ft), Onslaught (he can Dash while blocking).

Spartan Rage

Homebrew · his Rage, in four forms; he picks one each time he rages

Legacy (Valhalla): the Blade of Olympus is in his hand for the Rage: every weapon hit deals 1d10 more radiant, and a kill heals him 2d10. Fury: weapons on his back, fists for 1d12+8 bludgeoning, three a turn. Wrath: as he rages he leaps up to 30 ft and makes one weapon attack that deals 4d10 more on a hit. Valor: as a Bonus Action while raging, he spends a Rage use and regains 4d12+6 HP.

Runic attacks

Homebrew · each on a recharge of 5–6, rolled at the start of his turn; the weapon in hand decides which

Light (replaces one attack, +3d10 of the weapon's element on a hit): Winter's Bite (axe, cold), Nemean Crush (Blades, fire), Huldra Charge (spear, force). Heavy (Bonus Action, one creature within 15 ft, Con save DC 22, half on a save): Fog of Fimbulwinter, 6d10 cold and Frozen (Disadvantage on its attacks until the end of its next turn); Rampage of the Furies, 6d10 fire and Burning (2d10 more at the end of its next turn); Vindsvalr's Windstorm, 6d10 force and pushed 15 ft.

What the World Tree gives him

Path of the World Tree, Barbarian 3 and 6

Vitality Surge: raging grants him 9 temporary HP, and at the start of each of his turns while raging he can give an ally within 10 ft 2d6 more (Atreus, Freya, Mimir's jaw). Branches of the Tree: a Reaction pulls a creature that starts its turn within 30 ft to a space next to him (Str save DC 22) and stops it there.

Build, level by level

Point buy 15 / 14 / 13 / 10 / 12 / 8, Soldier +2 Str, +1 Con; the blood of Zeus then sets Strength 26 and Constitution 22. Fighter first for Strength and Constitution saves. Savage Attacker from the background, five ASIs.

Snapshots by saga, with the feats checked

Gods and Titans are statted by feel against the 5e Monster Manual's top end: Olympians as CR 22–26 with Legendary Resistance and Legendary Actions, Titans as Gargantuan CR 25–30 with a hundred-foot reach. The checks are honest about who finished whom.

The servant of Ares

Ascension; Chains of Olympus · before the ten years end · Levels 1–5 · Fighter 1–5

Str 17, Con 14 before the blood shows · AC 18 · HP 12 → 44 · the Blades of Chaos · two attacks from level 5

The feat, checked. The Furies (Megaera, Alecto as a Charybdis, Tisiphone) are CR 13–16 fiends with illusions, and he kills all three; Orkos asks to die and he obliges, which is what breaks the oath. In Chains of Olympus Charon beats him once and sends him to Tartarus, and he comes back with the Gauntlet of Zeus and destroys him; Persephone dies; Atlas is chained to the Pillar of the World, not killed. A fifth-level fighter can't do any of it alone, and he doesn't: these are the god-armed years, with Olympus's magic loaned to him level by level (Poseidon's Rage, Zeus's Fury, the Efreet), which a DM hands out as one-use spell scrolls.

The God of War

God of War (2005); Ghost of Sparta; Betrayal · Levels 6–8 · Fighter 5–7 / Barbarian 1

HP 53 → 85 (Tough at level 7) · Rage · Know Your Enemy

The feat, checked. Ares, a CR 26 god the size of a temple, dies on the Blade of the Gods: a weapon the size of a bridge, which in 5e is a one-use artifact that hits for 20d10 and needs a creature with Rage and Pandora's power behind it. He dies on the way there too (a pillar Ares throws) and climbs out of Hades, which is the first use of Out of Hades. As the God of War: Scylla, Erinys, Thanatos (CR 23) killed in a grief rage, his mother Callisto put down. Thanatos kills Deimos, not Kratos. In Betrayal he kills Ceryx; Argos's killer is someone else.

The war on Olympus

God of War II and III · Levels 9–13 · Fighter 8–11 / Barbarian 2

the demigod's Strength 26 and Constitution 22 by the war on Olympus · HP 95 → 188 · three attacks · Indomitable · the Blade of Olympus, the Claws of Hades, the Nemean Cestus, the Golden Fleece

The feat, checked. The list, as the games give it. Killed: the Colossus of Rhodes, Theseus, Perseus, Euryale, Icarus (wings torn off), the Sisters of Fate, Poseidon (neck snapped), Hades (soul torn out with his own claws), Helios (head torn off), Hermes (legs cut off), Hercules (face beaten in with the Cestus), Hera (neck snapped), Hephaestus, Cronos (gutted with the Blade of Olympus), Perses, Gaia, and Zeus (impaled, then beaten to death with his fists). Beaten, not killed: Typhon, blinded with his own bow. Someone else's: Athena dies throwing herself on the blade. Against a CR 26 Olympian he needs his Rage, three attacks at +13 and Legendary-Resistance-burning maneuvers; against a Titan he needs to be climbing it, which Athletics +13 with advantage does. The last thing he does in Greece is run the Blade of Olympus through himself to give mankind Hope, and live.

Midgard

God of War (2018) · Levels 14–16 · Barbarian 3–5

HP 203 → 233 · the Leviathan Axe · the Guardian Shield · the World Tree

The feat, checked. Baldur can't feel pain and can't be hurt by anything but mistletoe; three fights, and the third ends with Kratos snapping his neck. Magni dies to Kratos; Modi to Baldur. The nine Valkyries fall and their Queen, Sigrún, is freed, not killed. Freya fights him and lives. A Valkyrie Queen is a CR 22 flyer with Legendary Actions; Parry, a 2d8+16 axe, three attacks and Action Surge take her in about four rounds, which is about how long it takes in the game on Give Me God of War.

Ragnarök

God of War Ragnarök · Levels 17–19 · Barbarian 6–8

HP 248 → 278 · the Draupnir Spear · Branches of the Tree · Feral Instinct

The feat, checked. Thor (CR 25, lightning and Mjölnir) fights him twice: a stalemate at the door in which Kratos knocks out a tooth, and a defeat in which Kratos spares him; it's Odin who kills Thor. Heimdall, who reads every move before it's made, loses his arm and then his breath to Kratos's hands. Odin is beaten by Kratos, Atreus and Freya together; Atreus traps him in a marble and Sindri crushes it. Gná falls to Kratos and Freya takes her head at her own request. The resistance to lightning is how he walks through Thor's bolts; the sheet still says he couldn't have done Odin alone, and neither does the game.

Valhalla

the epilogue · after Ragnarök · Level 20 · Fighter 11 / Barbarian 9

The headline block: AC 20, 293 HP, Legacy, the runic attacks, Out of Hades

The feat, checked. Týr's trials are four fights against the old god of war in four armors (a hoplite, an Aztec, an Egyptian, a samurai), and Týr walks away from each; nobody dies in Valhalla, and the einherjar Kratos cuts down come back. The last fight isn't one: it's a talk with his younger self on Ares's throne. In the arena on these sheets, the thing he does that nobody else can is Anderson: the Blades keep the Paladin burning so nothing grows back, and then he does what Anderson's own sheet allows, the grapple and the heart. He wins that one about nine times in ten. He beats V, Jin, Guts and Crane, splits Talion, and loses to the Slayer, Link, Battle Beast, Guy and Smasher's guns.

A god of hope

Ragnarök ends with Faye's last mural: a golden Kratos in Greek dress with the Leviathan Axe, and people kneeling to him. Valhalla ends with him on the throne, at peace with it, joining Freya's new pantheon; the game's own trophy for it is called God of Hope. Outlets disagree about whether he takes the title of god of war again or something gentler, and the sheet doesn't settle it: he is the God of War who decided war wasn't the point.

A DM's dial

Three knobs. Out of Hades is canon three times over, but it's the most generous line on the sheet; drop it if the table wants him mortal-feeling. Legacy's extra radiant on every hit is what lets him outfight regenerators; Fury (fists) is the humbler Spartan Rage if the Blade of Olympus feels like too much. And the runic attacks recharge on a 5–6; make them once a short rest for a slower, more deliberate Kratos, which is also the most Norse one.
